

Australia's BIGGEST MORNING TEA

Every cup counts in the fight against cancer

How your cup counts

$500 can go towards the cost of funding ground-breaking research into the causes of cancer and into new and improved treatments. Significant advances have been achieved through research; cancer-related deaths have fallen by around 15% between 1986 and 2004. The survival rate for many common cancers has improved by as much as 30% in the past two decades.

$100 can help arrange practical support for our volunteers to make life easier for carers of those with cancer. Volunteers spend a few hours per week helping with housework, shopping, or driving a patient to treatment, giving carers a much-deserved break.

$50 can help us fund clinical trials, which test new and better ways to prevent, diagnose and treat cancer. Clinical trials ensure cancer patients have access to new treatments and receive the best care.

$20 can help us train a Cancer Connect volunteer. These volunteers are cancer survivors who provide one-to-one support for people diagnosed with a similar cancer to themselves.

$10 can contribute to running the Cancer Council Helpline (13 11 20). The Helpline is staffed by committed health professionals trained in oncology who have had years of experience with cancer patients. The Helpline is often the first point of contact for those who have just been diagnosed with cancer or for their loved ones. The Cancer Council Helpline is the only dedicated Cancer Helpline for patients and their families available in Australia.

$5 can enable us to provide a newly diagnosed cancer patient with important support and information resources to help them through their cancer journey. Our support and information services ensure that cancer patients are fully informed about their disease, understand their treatment options and are aware of the local services available to them.
